Passwords and phishing — answers

Cyber security

Answers for the four pupil worksheets and the unit check. Where pupils write their own ideas, a sample answer shows the kind of thinking to look for — accept any answer that shows the same idea.

Lesson 1 worksheet: Password power

Passphrases you can remember · Make it long, random and secret

1 Strong or weak?

a. Musa2012 — Easy to guess
b. pencil hippo volcano — Hard to guess
c. 12345678 — Easy to guess
d. P@ssw0rd — Easy to guess
e. Your football team's name — Easy to guess
f. drum ladder tomato — Hard to guess
g. Your date of birth — Easy to guess

2 True or false?

a. A passphrase of three random words can be easy to remember. — True
b. You should tell a friend your password in case you forget it. — False
c. A real bank won't ask you to read out a code sent to your phone. — True
d. One password for everything is safe if it is long. — False
e. Your email password should be different from all the others. — True

3 Picture it

Sample answer: A goat in sunglasses riding a bicycle: "goat sunglasses bicycle". Practice only — a real passphrase stays secret.

Challenge

Sample answer: Criminals could try the leaked password on his email and get in. He should change his email password straight away to a new passphrase, and use different ones from now on.

Lesson 2 worksheet: Scam detective

Spot a phishing message · Spot the warning signs before you click 1 Scam or safe?

a. You won a phone! Pay delivery to claim it. — Scam
b. Class teacher: sports day is on Friday. — Safe
c. Send me the code we just texted you. — Scam
d. Library: please return books this week. — Safe

f. Unknown number: open this file now. — Scam
g. Coach: training moves to 4 pm today. — Safe
h. Parents' meeting on Tuesday at 3 pm. — Safe

2 Name the sign

1. "Act now or else!" → Urgency or a threat
2. "Tell me your PIN." → Asks for a secret
3. "You won a prize!" → Too good to be true
4. "Bank" from a new number → Sender doesn't match

3 What to do next

1. Close the page and type nothing → 2. Tell a trusted adult straight away →
3. Change any password you typed → 4. Report the message, then delete it

☆ Challenge

Sample answer: "Urgent: your school account closes today! Send your password to this number to keep it." Signs: urgency and asking for a secret.

Lesson 3 worksheet: Phone check-up

Lock down your phone · Six habits that keep a phone safe

1 Pick the fix

1. My lock code is 1234 → Use a strong screen lock
2. I keep tapping "later" → Install updates
3. A game wants my messages → Check app permissions
4. I lost my phone → Turn on find my device

2 True or false?

a. A lock code of 1234 is hard to guess. — False
b. Many updates fix security holes. — True
c. Apps sent in a chat are as safe as store apps. — False
d. A torch app needs to read your messages. — False
e. A backup keeps your photos safe if the phone is lost. — True

3 Finish the sentence

Lock your phone, install updates, get apps from the official store and back up your photos and contacts.

☆ Challenge

Sample answer: 1. Set a lock code that isn't 1234 or your birthday. 2. Install apps only from the official app store, never from a chat — ask me if you're not sure.

Lesson 4 worksheet: Safe group check

Safer school WhatsApp groups · Think before you post in a group

1 Post or not?

a. Sports day moves to Friday — OK in a big group

g. A pupil's home address — Never in a big group
h. Bring a water bottle tomorrow — OK in a big group

2 True or false?

a. Group members can save and forward anything you post. — True
b. A message with the head teacher's photo must be from them. — False
c. A two-step verification PIN helps protect your account. — True
d. Replying "Is it you?" is a good way to check a money request. — False
e. Admins can stop strangers joining by approving new members. — True

3 Your group rules

a. Write one rule about what must never be posted in the group. — Never post pupils' photos, marks, phone numbers or home addresses.

b. Write one rule about what to do with a strange or urgent message. — Don't reply or pay — check with the person by calling or in person, then report and block.

☆ Challenge

Sample answer: A new number, urgency and a request for private details. Don't reply or send anything. Ask the teacher in person or call their usual number, then report and block the number.

Unit check — answers and reasons

10 questions · the app gives this feedback after each answer

1. B — Three random words joined together. Three random words are long, hard to guess and easy to picture.
2. False. Change a password when there are signs it was stolen or shared. Forced regular changes lead to small, predictable tweaks.
3. A, B, C. A — yes: Urgency and threats rush you past checking. B — yes: A one-time code is for you alone. No real company asks for it. C — yes: A prize you never entered for is too good to be true. D — no: You expected it, the sender matches, and it asks for nothing. E — no: That tells you nothing either way. Judge what the message asks you to do.
4. 1. Close the page and type nothing more → 2. Change that password right away → 3. Change it anywhere else you used it → 4. Report the message, then delete it. Stop the damage first, then lock your accounts. Report before you delete, so the message can be checked.
5. C — Six-digit PIN with no link to you. Six digits with no link to you is far harder to guess than 1234 or a birthday — and any lock beats none.
6. Install updates → Security holes criminals could use; Official app store only → Harmful apps sent in chats; Turn on find my device → Losing track of a lost phone; Back up photos and contacts → Losing parents' numbers and photos. Each habit blocks a different problem. Together with a strong lock, they make a quick phone check-up.
7. B — Delete the post for everyone, then message the parent privately and kindly. Quick and respectful. No more parents see the marks, and the parent learns the rule without being embarrassed in front of the group.
8. PIN, code, channel. Your secrets stay with you, and checking another way gives you the real answer before you act.
9. B — A two-step verification PIN. Without her PIN, the code alone isn't enough to set up her account on another phone.
10. False. Anyone can put a name and photo on a new number. Call the head teacher on the number you already have.
